

Aarti is a non-profit organization dedicated to providing a safe haven and comprehensive support for orphaned, abandoned, and at-risk girls and women in India. Founded in 1992, The journey began with a single Act of compassion by founder Sandhya Puchalapalli (fondly known as Sandhyamma), who was inspired after rescuing an abandoned two-year-old girl child. The organization was registered as Vijay Foundation Trust, under the societies act and has since evolved from a small shelter in Kadapa into a comprehensive umbrella organization for child welfare and women's empowerment.
